Science and scientists in Islam See

What is science? Science is knowledge and now it is knowledge ascertained by observation and experiment. It is also conceived as a body of knowledge and is not static but an active process that can be followed through the ages. The Quran represents the truth and truth is eternal. It does not change though our understanding of it might change with the passage of time. Those who instruct people in the light of divine guidance present universal truth. The Quran considers science as conducive...
